Reaching Out and Serving With a Sense of Community

In May 2021, the lead article for Park News was about the importance of community. We said that being together with people in different forms of social contact and interaction, different ways of giving and receiving love, etc., happen as normal parts of everyday life. We also talked about the importance of community to the human spirit and psyche.

In a follow-up article (February 2022) we said that in addition to all of the learning and worship we do as a church, another large part of what we experience together is a sense of community—getting together, doing things together, reaching out to and supporting one another, working on projects together, promoting causes we care about, believe in, and support, etc.

We also reminded ourselves in each of those articles that there are communities in heaven—countless neighborhoods where people with common forms of love, common interests, and common ways of seeing live together and share in community with one another.

And finally, we asked a question: When we strive to reach out, serve, and invite people to our church, what are we inviting them to? What do we have to offer them beyond weekly worship and learning? One answer is a sense of community.

Look again at the list of things in paragraph #2 that we experience together here in the Glenview New Church—getting together, doing things together, reaching out and supporting one another, working on projects together, promoting causes that we care about, etc. (And really, the “etc.” could go on and on.) Here in our church, there is such a nice, varied, meaningful sense of community that we enjoy.

Not long ago, I was talking with a friend here in Glenview who was going through a rough time. At one point in the conversation, the person reflected on the sense of community we have in our church and said, “I don’t know what I would do without this community... I don’t know where I’d be without it.” And if you listen to people who come in contact with us—on Sundays, or at picnics by the lake, or at parties we hold or social events we offer, etc.—how often do you hear them say, “You have such a nice community”? Pretty often.

Following one of our recent worship services, I told you that in the coming months we will be gearing up for a new round of strategic planning for our church—slated to begin this coming September. At that time, we will ask ourselves, “How can we as a church reach out and serve people in the surrounding community with the message and life of the New Church?” In answering that question, I hope one of the things we spend time focusing on is how good we are at being in community with one another, and how much we have to offer on that front to others in the surrounding community. This coming fall, let’s all renew our efforts to reach and serve others around us—in the variety of ways that we do, and especially with a sense of community.

Have a nice month, everyone. Love to all. (Mark)

General Announcements

Women Unwind—February 2

Our once-a-month get-together will take place on Monday, February 2 from 5-6:30 pm at Karen Stoeller's, 100 Park Drive, Glenview. Casual - with wine, soft drinks, cheese, crackers, and conversation. Contact: Sandy Ruch 847-724-0363

Senior Recruiter Visit—February 7 and 8

You are invited to two events on the weekend of February 7-8 involving the Senior Recruiter of teachers and ministers for the General Church. The first event is Saturday evening, the second is after church that Sunday.

Baird Kistner is the newly hired Senior Recruiter of teachers and ministers for the General Church. He is making a swing through North America to educate people on careers as teachers and ministers. His stated hope is to "connect with invested members of the community and partner with any individuals who might be a fit for these professions, so he can fulfill his role of mentoring/guiding them toward these vital careers." Baird's first stop will be in Glenview on the weekend of February 7-8.

On Saturday night of that weekend, you are invited to a "pub night" visit and discussion with Baird on these topics. It will happen at an (as yet to be determined) location from 4- 6pm. On Sunday of that weekend, there will be refreshments after church followed by a short presentation by Baird in the auditorium. The presentation will include an opportunity for Q&A and discussion.

If you or someone you know has interest—or may have any possible interest—in becoming a teacher or minister someday, please let them know about these events. (This could include people as young as high school age, possibly even 7th or 8th grade. It could also include people who may have interest in terms of a "second" or "next" career.) And even if you're past the time of choosing a career, I'm sure either or both of these events will be interesting and fun.

If you have any questions, feel free to contact either me or Elmo. I hope you can come to either or both events. Mark)

Student Care Packages—February 22

We are heading up the student care packages again this year. We like to let our students know that the church society is thinking about them and perhaps provide some stress relief. Parents, we will need current addresses of your college/grad students, trade school students and active military students ages 25 and under. We don't want any students left out! Please send their addresses to Erika.herrera@comcast.net or text them to Erika's cell at 847-421-9902. We will assemble care packages after church on Sunday, February 22. Anyone is welcome to contribute baked goods/food items (no nuts in case of allergies) and any sort of fun things that college students may like. Also any monetary donations to offset shipping fees.

ages are also welcome. Looking forward to envisioning smiles on our students' faces when they receive their surprise boxes! (Erika and Tony Herrera)
